If LFC, had looked after their 200 properties instead of deliberately neglecting them, in "an artificial or deceptive ploy to manipulate the surrounding environment and public opinion" - then the area would not be in such a mess.

But that was the plan all-along, they had been forewarned of the repercussions of such deliberate neglect.

Today the council's ruling executive board was told that consultants GVA Grimley have concluded Stanley Park is the best option both for the club and the Anfield Breckfield area;

The GVA Grimley report says: "The decline of the Anfield Breckfield area has been rapid and continues at a significant rate." The spiral of decline is vicious and unless arrested will result in the death of Anfield Breckfield as a community"

Cllr Richard Kemp, the councils housing executive member, said: "The club owns around 200 houses that they bought around the ground. The club wants to make a clear clear statement about it's commitment to the regeneration of Anfield. The club will be refurbishing the houses that it no longer needs in connection with any plans for the stadium."
